Hi,
Everything here is fine. I've just finished my exams and they went well. I'm going to have a short holiday to relax and see friends before starting to look for a job. What about you? What have you been doing? What's happening there at the moment? What plans have you got for the next few months?
Sorry about all the questions but you shouldn't be so lazy! Write to me and tell me everything or I won't write again!!

Hi Chris,

I'm so sorry :( I couldn't write you earlier because I was studying for my last exam. Yesterday I finished them and now I'm waiting the marks. I'm really nervous! I want know it right now! I'm so happy about your results. You must celebrate it!

I hope you enjoy your short holiday and you found you ideal job because you have worked hard. I'm making a lots of plans for this summer too. In July I will go to visit Paris with my boyfriend, I think it will be fantastic and so romantic. Do you know that it is called "the city of love"? We'll stay there about two week and we'll tried to know all about this place and see the important monuments like Eiffel Tower.

I guess I'll have a short holiday with my parents and my sister too. We go to the beach each year, so you could come with us! It would be quite funny! Or if you have some week free, I could go to England and see you. Miss you so much!!!

How are your family? Have your brother finished his career?

Write me back soon or I'll kill you! Hahaha

Love u,

Even though there are some mistakes e. g. 'Have your brother', these mistakes do not hinder understanding. Vocabulary control is generally good though there is some incorrect word choice e.g. 'career'. Spelling and punctuation are reasonably correct and in terms of coherence and cohesion, the text is well-organised, reads well and is in the correct register.
